About Boerse Stuttgart Digital Exchange GmbH

We are Boerse Stuttgart Digital Exchange GmbH – we are building Germany’s first regulated trading venue for digital assets. The underlying blockchain technology is revolutionizing the handling of assets along the value chain of the financial world.

We set high standards in transparency and security and offer a reliable framework for trading. - You select interdisciplinary team members to create powerful and high performing project teams, this might also include external parties

What you bring:

- You are an experienced project management professional with previous work experience in a top management consultancy and growing technology companies with B2B focus
